

Results of the Yorkshire and Humber Environment Index 2009

The Yorkshire and Humber Environment Index is supported by Carbon Action Yorkshire, Yorkshire Forward's programme aimed at accelerating the development of a lower carbon economy in the Yorkshire and Humber region.

Every year organisations in Yorkshire and Humber have the opportunity to understand their environmental impact, identify gaps in performance and benchmark this against their peers by taking part in the Yorkshire and Humber Environment index. Every entry is validated, and feedback given to help make further improvements. This year nearly 18% of entries have gained certificates for making a significant improvement in their index score, an upwards trend driven by good business sense. With nearly a third of the entries from new organisations, it's clear that more organisations understand that being sustainable is good for business. If you haven't taken up the index challenge yet, take inspiration from these new entries and get involved.

The Environment Index is provided free thanks to funding from Carbon Action Yorkshire. Get in contact with Environment Campaign Manager Elizabeth Edgington on 0113 205 8222 or email elizabeth.edgington@bitc.org.uk for more information.
