Law

Law shapes the fabric of society, studying it empowers students to understand, challenge, and influence the world around them

Give your students a glimpse into the world of law with a talk, taster day or masterclass at Sheffield Hallam University. Our hands-on approach lets students explore legal practice in our brand-new School of Law, featuring facilities like a professional moot court, Legal Advice Centre, and Justice Hubs. It's an inspiring opportunity to experience law in action and discover the pathways it can open.

Criminology

Explore the Realities of Crime and Justice by Introducing your students to the dynamic world of criminology through our engaging taster days, talks and masterclasses. At Sheffield Hallam University, our current students can explore how crime and justice shape society, guided by experts with real-world experience in policing, prisons, and probation. With access to purpose-built facilities at the Helena Kennedy Centre for International Justice, they'll gain insights into topics like youth justice, violent crime, and global criminality — all while discovering how criminology connects theory with impactful practice.

Professional Policing

Give your students a first look into the fast-paced world of modern policing. Our Professional Policing course, licensed by the College of Policing, blends academic study with real-world experience — taught by experts with backgrounds in law enforcement and criminal justice. Students explore key areas like counter-terrorism, digital policing, and modern slavery, while developing practical skills in purpose-built facilities at the Helena Kennedy Centre for International Justice. It's a powerful introduction to a career that makes a real difference.
