

Paramedic Science placements

- Your placement learning opportunities are currently available across all of the following regions of England:
 - Yorkshire and the Humber
 - East Midlands
- We are continually working to develop new placement learning opportunities - and therefore placement learning settings maybe added to the list of placements currently available. Examples of some of these providers are available on the Placement Provider Information page on this website.
- Your placements could take place anywhere across the placement circuit or as student self-sourced placements anywhere outside the placement circuit.
- Placement learning takes place in many settings and may include learning in NHS and private, voluntary and independent organisations delivering acute, primary and community care and public health services.
