Support over the festive break

The Student Wellbeing & Belonging service and the Multifaith Chaplaincy will close at 4pm on Friday 19th December and reopen at 9am on Monday 5th January.

We know that not everyone feels festive at this time of year, and we know that can feel hard. Staying social where you can, spending time with those you care about and getting out and soaking up as much natural light (and the fun festive ones that are around when the daylight runs out) can help lift our mood.

You may be on a festive break, but this doesn't mean support isn't there for you. As a student at Hallam, you can access support 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year with Togetherall.

You can also find support from local and national services on our Urgent Help page.

Some parts of the University will remain open and there will still be some support available, you can find out what you can access during the closure here: www.shu.ac.uk/MyHallam/support-during-the-break.
